

UNDERGRADUATE FELLOWSHIPS • GRANTS • AWARDS for those interested in Korean Studies

Academic Year 2013-14

Korea Institute Undergraduate Summer Language Study Grants at Ewha

Ewha Womans University is one of Korea's foremost universities and one of the largest women's universities in the world. For more information on the co-ed Ewha International Summer College, please visit:

<http://summer.ewha.ac.kr> The Korea Institute will award 3 undergraduate summer language study grants (3 full tuition waivers) for Harvard undergraduates in any concentration to attend the co-ed Ewha International Summer College-Session I to learn Korean language. You may opt to focus only on Korean language or learn Korean language and take content courses. These full tuition waivers will cover the Ewha application fee, as well as, the tuition fee for Ewha - Session I. The Korea Institute will provide round trip airfare (economy class, non-refundable, up to $2000). Students are still responsible for housing (dorm) costs, meals and general living expenses. *Apply directly to the Korea Institute, not via the Ewha Summer College on-line application form. * Application deadline: Wednesday, February 12, 2014.

The Korea Institute Undergraduate Summer Language Study Grants at Ewha application will be available on CARAT (<https://asperin.fas.harvard.edu/carat/>), Harvard's web-based centralized application tool, listed under Korea Institute Undergraduate Summer Language Study Grants at Ewha. Questions contact: Catherine Glover, cglover@fas.harvard.edu

Students are encouraged to apply to OCS (Office of Career Services) for an OCS Summer Study Abroad Grant to cover the above costs not covered by this grant. [Ewha may also offer a 50% tuition discount for the Session II program for students who participate in both Session I and Session II as a set. This would be a good opportunity to for students to experience Korean culture and stay in Korea until mid-August.]

Korea Institute Summer Research Travel Grants (Undergraduate)

Korea Institute Undergraduate Summer Travel Grants are awarded to Harvard undergraduates in the humanities or social sciences to use in Korea for research and/or field work relating to a senior honors thesis in an area of Korean studies. Typically, the amount of the award is limited to the cost of travel in the research project. Undergraduate applicants must have at least two years of Korean language training or equivalent proficiency in the language. Use the online CARAT system to apply to the Korea Institute via: <https://asperin.fas.harvard.edu/carat/>. Listed under Korea Institute-Summer Research Travel Grants. Application deadline: Wed. February 12, 2014. For questions, contact: Catherine Glover cglover@fas.harvard.edu

KI Scholarships for the Harvard Summer School-Korea Program

The Korea Institute offers limited scholarships to undergraduate students who need additional financial assistance to attend the Harvard Summer School-Korea program. Students on financial aid are given priority. Awards are made in consultation with the Office of Career Services. Do not apply via CARAT and there is no 'official form'. Instead, for this KI Scholarship application, please submit a budget sheet, along with a written statement of financial need. The budget sheet should include program cost, sources and amount of income, along with an itemized budget. Scholarship application emailed to <cglover@fas.harvard.edu> by Thurs. January 30, 2014 for HSS-Korea Applicants.

Asia Center Undergraduate Summer Research Grants (For Multiple Country/Comparative Projects)

The Harvard University Asia Center offers grants to support undergraduate research during the summer on projects/topics that look at the countries of East, South, and Southeast Asia comparatively or explore the relations among Asian countries. Individual country topics may only be considered if they are part of broader, multi-country research. This connection must be made explicit in the application. These grants are intended to fully fund the proposed project, subject to review of the budget. Please note that these grants will not cover equipment purchases. Recipients are required to submit upon their return, a brief report on their work over the summer. Grant recipients become Student Associates of the Asia Center and may be asked to present their work and/or contribute to the Asia Center's website and/or publications. Applicants should submit their application online via the CARAT system under the Asia Center listings at: <https://asperin.fas.harvard.edu/carat/> by Wednesday, February 12, 2014. For more info contact: Jorge Espada, jorge_espada@harvard.edu

Student Organization Grants

The Asia-related centers at Harvard University offers grants to undergraduates and graduate student organizations for projects involving individual countries or spanning multiple countries in Asia. These grants are offered on a ongoing basis; however organizations are encouraged to apply as early as possible as funds are limited. Applications are posted on the KI and Asia Center websites. For questions, Jorge Espada, Jorge_espada@harvard.edu; jespada@fas.harvard.edu.

GRADUATE FELLOWSHIPS • GRANTS • AWARDS for those interested in Korean Studies

Academic Year 2013-2014

Korea Institute Summer Research Travel Grants (Graduate)

The Korea Institute offers a limited number of travel grants for summer research and/or fieldwork in Korea for graduate students. Proposals from graduate students must relate to their doctoral or masters theses. Typically, the amount of the award is limited to the cost of travel in the research project; additional support for the cost of materials and other ancillary expenses also may be sought, but only in exceptional situations does the amount of the summer research award exceed the actual cost of travel. In the case of graduate students, priority is given to doctoral candidates. Masters degree candidates are welcome to apply (RSEA Program included). Graduate degree candidates in all social sciences or humanities fields are eligible. Graduate students must have at least three years of Korean language training or equivalent proficiency. Applications are available at the GSAS Fellowships Office website at:

http://www.gsas.harvard.edu/current_students/graduate_summer_standard_application.php

Please follow the "INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS" in the GSAS Graduate Summer Standard Application, as well as, the Korea Institute instructions found on the KI website: <http://korea.fas.harvard.edu/opportunities/korea-institute-lg-yonam-foundation-graduate-summer-research-travel-grants-graduate> Application deadline: Thur. February 13, 2014 by 4:00 p.m. For more information, contact Catherine Glover of the Korea Institute, Email:cglover@fas.harvard.edu

Korea Institute Summer Language Study Grants for Graduate Students (Graduate)

The Korea Institute will offer a limited number of summer language study grants to A.M. students and Harvard doctoral candidates in the humanities or social sciences. Intended study must be directly related to a thesis/PhD dissertation in Korean studies, which cannot be conveniently pursued during the academic year. (Grants up to $6,000) Study should take place at accredited programs outside of the United States, but exceptions may be made when this is not possible. Priority will be given to advanced study in a primary language, to the study of a secondary language that is necessary for the completion of the degree, or to the study of a secondary language that is necessary for advanced research. Students are encouraged to budget realistically and, when appropriate, to seek support from other sources, which may be combined with GSLG funds. Students applying to a Harvard Summer School language program should first explore submitting an application for a tuition waiver from GSAS. Students should consult their academic departments for application procedures and deadlines. To apply to this grant, be sure and visit the following 2 links for the application and specific required KI directions available at:

http://www.gsas.harvard.edu/current_students/graduate_summer_standard_application.php

and <http://korea.fas.harvard.edu/opportunities/korea-institute-summer-language-study-grants-graduate-students-graduate>

Application deadline: Thur. February 13, 2014 by 4:00 p.m. For more information, contact Catherine Glover of the Korea Institute, Email:cglover@fas.harvard.edu

Korea Institute Supplementary Research Dissertation Grants--For Academic Year 2014-15

The Korea Institute will provide support to Harvard doctoral candidates (beyond G4, not in finishing year) who are in the dissertation research stage in any field of Korean studies in the humanities or social sciences, when other sources of funding are insufficient. Students must do their primary research in Korean. A limited number of RESEARCH grants of up to $23,000 will be available for the academic year 2014-15. A student may receive this grant only once. Priority is given to students whose work clearly focuses on Korea. Students applying to the Korea Institute for support are required to apply elsewhere as well. Applications are available at the GSAS Fellowships Office website at:

http://www.gsas.harvard.edu/current_students/dissertation_completion_standard_application.php

Please follow the "INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS" in the GSAS Doctoral Dissertation Completion Fellowships Standard Application, as well as, the Korea Institute instructions found on the KI website:

<http://korea.fas.harvard.edu/opportunities/korea-institute-supplementary-research-dissertation-grants-ay14-15>

Application deadline: Thur. February 13, 2014 by 4:00 p.m For more information, contact Catherine Glover of the Korea Institute, Email:cglover@fas.harvard.edu

Korea Institute Dissertation Completion Fellowships-For Academic Year 2014-15

The Korea Institute at Harvard University is pleased to offer Dissertation Completion Fellowships to Harvard doctoral candidates in the final stages of dissertation writing in any field of Korean Studies in the humanities and social sciences for academic year 2014-15. Applicants must have exhausted all other sources of funding and require one more year in which to complete their research and/or thesis writing. Students applying to the Korea Institute are required to apply for funding elsewhere as well. Applications are available at the GSAS Fellowships Office website at:

http://www.gsas.harvard.edu/current_students/dissertation_completion_standard_application.php

Please follow the "INSTRUCTIONS TO APPLICANTS" in the GSAS Doctoral Dissertation Completion Fellowships Standard Application, as well as, the Korea Institute instructions <http://korea.fas.harvard.edu/opportunities/korea-institute-dissertation-completion-fellowships> Application deadline: Thur. February 13, 2014 by 4:00 p.m. For more information, contact Catherine Glover of the Korea Institute, Email:cglover@fas.harvard.edu

The International Communications Foundation (ICF) Graduate Student Fellowships in Korean Literature at the Korea Institute for AY14-15, Harvard University

The Korea Institute at Harvard University provides fellowships to support Harvard graduate students whose research focuses on translations of Korean literature. The main purpose of this initiative is to provide funding to students who are no longer eligible to receive funding from GSAS financial aid, to free the students from teaching during the fellowship period in order to focus on their work, and to foster the growth of young scholars working on Korean literature and translation. Funding is provided by the International Communications Foundation (ICF) of Seoul, Korea; the fellowship program is housed and administered by the Korea Institute at Harvard University. Proposals from Harvard doctoral students entering their third or fourth year of study are welcome to apply. Priority will be given to students most strongly committed to Korean literature translation projects, and who have some prior experience in translating Korean literature.

Application deadline: Thur. Feb 13, 2014 by 4:00 p.m. For more info and the application process see

<http://korea.fas.harvard.edu/opportunities-korean-studies>

Korea Foundation Post-Doctoral Fellowships

Fellowships for postdoctoral study at the Korea Institute are funded by the Korea Foundation's Postdoctoral Fellowship Program in Seoul. Scholars who are not ROK citizens, who have received their Ph.D. degree in a subject related to Korea within five years of their application but do not currently hold a regular faculty position, are eligible to apply. Applicants must have received their Ph.D. degree prior to the start of their fellowship research. Research fields supported by this program are in the humanities and social sciences. The post-doctoral stipend for a 12-month period in accordance with the academic year of the affiliated institution is determined on the basis of country, region and institution where the Fellow will conduct his/her research. This fellowship cannot be combined with other sources of support, including other fellowships and grants. Scholars who wish to be considered for this funding should apply simultaneously to the Korea Foundation and the Korea Institute. In order to apply to the Korea Institute for institutional affiliation as a Korea Foundation post-doctoral fellow, you should submit a duplicate copy of the Korea Foundation application materials by Thursday, January 2, 2014 by 4pm. Submit five sets of a completed application to: Catherine Glover, Korea Institute, Harvard University, CGIS South, Room S233 1730 Cambridge Street, Cambridge, MA 02138. For further details, please see <http://korea.fas.harvard.edu/opportunities-korean-studies> under Post Doctoral Fellowships. Another set of a completed application must be submitted to the Korea Foundation by their deadline, which is Jan 31, 2014. For more information, please visit the Korea Foundation online at: <http://www.kf.or.kr/>.

Soon Young Kim Post-Doctoral Fellowship in Korean Studies at the Korea Institute, Harvard University for 2014-2015 The Korea Institute at Harvard University is accepting applications for a postdoctoral fellowship in Korean Studies for the 2014-15 academic year. The fellow is expected to participate actively in related activities of Harvard and the Korean Studies community, and to teach one or two undergraduate courses in the appropriate academic department. We particularly welcome course proposals on original topics with innovative teaching approaches. The fellowship will cover up to a 12-month period between August 1, 2014 and July 31, 2015, and will carry a stipend of $40,000. The recipient will have the option to purchase health insurance from Harvard's affiliate insurance program should s/he choose.

(<http://hushp.harvard.edu/rates-plan-dates#Affiliate>) The postdoctoral fellow will be provided an office and access to libraries and resources of Harvard University, and will be invited to participate in the academic life of the Korea Institute and appropriate academic department/s. The fellow will be expected to reside in the Cambridge/Boston area during the appointment and to work on revising his or her dissertation for publication. The fellow will also be expected to teach or collaborate on one or two one-semester classes for undergraduates give a public presentation at the Korea Colloquium or Kim Koo Forum seminar series. Applicants must have received their Ph.D. degree within five years of the postdoctoral appointment year (i.e. in 2009 or later). The applicant who is offered a fellowship must have fully completed all requirements for the Ph.D. degree by July 1, 2014. Application Deadline: Applications must be received by Thurs. January 2, 2014. Full application details and process may be found on the KI website:

<http://korea.fas.harvard.edu/opportunities/soon-young-kim-post-doctoral-fellowship-korean-studies>

Asia Center Graduate Summer Research Grants (For Multiple Country/Comparative Projects)

The Harvard University Asia Center offers grants to support graduate research during the summer on projects/topics that look at the countries of East, South, and Southeast Asia comparatively or explore the relations among Asian countries. Individual country topics may only be considered if they are part of broader, multi-country research. This connection must be made explicit in the application. The competition is open to graduate students from all schools at Harvard at all stages of their academic careers. These grants are intended to fully fund the proposed project, subject to review of the budget. Please note that these grants will not cover equipment purchases. Recipients are required to submit upon their return, a brief report on their work over the summer. Grant recipients become Student Associates of the Asia Center and may be asked to present their work and/or contribute to the Asia Center's website and/or publications. Applicants should submit 1 hard copy (original) of the following materials by Thursday, February 13, 2014 to Jorge Espada, RE: Asia Center Graduate Summer Research Grants, CGIS South Building S111, 1730 Cambridge Street, Cambridge, MA 02138. Application is available at http://www.gsas.harvard.edu/current_students/graduate_summer_standard_application.php
For more info contact: Jorge Espada jorge_espada@harvard.edu

Korea Institute Graduate Conference Attendance Grants AY13-14

The Korea Institute will provide small grants (up to $800) for Harvard graduate students in any field of Korean studies in the humanities or social sciences to help defray cost of travel, registration fees and other expenses incurred during attendance at scholarly conferences where they present papers or serve as panel discussants for the Academic Year 2013-2014. Application must be made at least ONE MONTH in advance of the conference. * You may apply for only one KI Conference Attendance Grant per Academic Year*

Student Organization Grants

The Asia-related centers at Harvard University offers grants to undergraduates and graduate student organizations for projects involving individual countries or spanning multiple countries in Asia. These grants are offered on an ongoing basis; however organizations are encouraged to apply as early as possible as funds are limited. Applications are posted on the KI and Asia Center websites. For questions, Jorge Espada, jespada@fas.harvard.edu.