

Summer Funding

Getting Started

As you begin to think about summer, explore broadly and start to make a plan for all the things you want to accomplish while at Harvard. Explore the many different summer opportunities, including: study abroad; volunteer abroad; domestic or international research; international internships; domestic public service internships; and international humanities and arts projects.

Check out the Summer Funding section on the OCS website and the Harvard Funding Sources Database (www.funding.fas.harvard.edu) to explore possible funding opportunities for these activities. Successful funding applicants start early, plan carefully, get advice from many sources at Harvard, and attend OCS events to learn about summer options and how to apply for funding.
